WELCOME

SIMON BARTLEY

President WorldSkills

WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 marks a very special year for us as it is our 65th Anniversary, and I would like to reflect on how far the Competition has come in a relatively short time. From small beginnings with only 12 Competitors from just two countries in 1950 to over 1,200 Competitors from more than 60 countries and regions today.

This is our 43rd WorldSkills Competition, and it is the first time we have held our flagship event in Latin America. I would like to thank our Member organization in Brazil, SENAI, for everything they have done and continue to do to develop skills excellence.

During the event we are continuing with our Conference Programme focusing on “Inspiring Skills Excellence and Development”. Each day flows and builds on the previous topics to create a synergy like we have never experienced before. We have many partners and organizations set to engage, debate, enlighten, and stimulate participants.

To the hundreds of volunteers that are giving their time, energy, and skills to make the Competition a success, I would like to personally thank you; without you the event would not be the tremendous success that it is.

To the Experts, Delegates, and Workshop Managers and Assistants, thank you for your commitment, dedication, and your never-ending enthusiasm. You make the Competitors’ journey possible.

Finally, to the over 1,200 Competitors. You are the future of your industries, communities, countries, and the world. You join the over 14,000 WorldSkills Champions from our previous 42 Competitions.

At the end of this WorldSkills Competition, some of you will be Medallists, but you will all be Champions.

Finally, I would like to wish everyone involved in WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 good luck, my thanks, and many congratulations for a job well done!

ROBSON BRAGA DE ANDRADE

*CNI President
SENAI National Council President
SESI National Department Director*

CNI, National Confederation of Industry, is honoured to welcome you to one more WorldSkills Competition, held in Latin America, for the first time. Brazil, the host country, is not only known for the strength of its internal market, but also for the strength of its industry and service networks, as well as excellent research centres and highly qualified professionals.

During WorldSkills São Paulo 2015, Brazil will welcome the best professionals competing in 50 different skills, from 63 countries in 5 continents, in order to develop and promote industry around the world.

Industry is responsible for 23.4% of the GDP and generates more than 12 million jobs in the entire country, playing a very important social and economic role in Brazil. It is the economic sector that most generates jobs and is most sought after by young people who want to begin their professional activities. Industry also pays the highest wages to its employees. São Paulo is Brazil's financial and economic capital, with 50,800 industries

CNI, an entity that promotes research, innovation and technological development for industry, believes that initiatives like WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 are excellent opportunities to invest in Brazil's vocational education system and increase competitiveness and labour qualification in Brazil, as well as boost sustainable development and create a positive business environment.

We are the seventh largest economy in the world, with a huge and varied industrial park, ranging from the production of consumer goods to cutting-edge technology, but we still have progress to be made and lots to learn about regarding vocational education, with a promising future ahead. Improving competitiveness is essential to continue promoting sustainable growth.

CNI, SENAI and WorldSkills International, have decided to join forces to make this Competition a success, which will bring an immeasurable legacy to the Brazilian and global industry. Without the effort, support and dedication from each Delegation and everyone involved in this great event promoting education and progress for the Brazilian industry, none of this would be possible.

As the largest Brazilian industry entity – with almost 700,000 companies- we hope that all WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 visitors and participants have a wonderful Competition, filled with learning, new experiences and productive exchanges.

Welcome to WorldSkills São Paulo 2015! I am pleased to welcome you all to our city for the 43rd WorldSkills Competition, the greatest vocational education and skills excellence Competition in the world, WorldSkills Competition, hosted in Latin America for the first time.

The National Service for Industrial learning – SENAI, one of the five greatest professional education complexes in the world and the largest in Latin America, has been working for over 70 years to enhance the quality of vocational education in Brazil according to the country's industrial needs, by investing in training and professional competitiveness, and providing 150,000 opportunities for technical courses every year.

According to recent research, 72% of professionals who have completed technical courses are employed in the next year after graduating. Among the economic sectors in the country, industry pays the highest salaries to its employees.

Vocational education provides various opportunities and possibilities for young professionals and has a very important role in building and promoting citizenship. As a result, professionals that are more qualified and specialized provide significant improvements for the country as a whole, in regards to employability, competitiveness, productivity, and sustainable development. In Brazil, there are 249 technical schools in various States and regions.

I would like to thank SENAI, WorldSkills International, and everyone else who has contributed to the success of WorldSkills São Paulo 2015.

Together, we'll present inspirational and success stories that will help young people and adults as they choose their professional training options as an important foundation for a promising future.

DAVID HOEY
CEO WorldSkills International

Welcome to WorldSkills São Paulo 2015, our 43rd WorldSkills Competition! It is very exciting to have the Competition in Latin America for the first time. Brazil is the seventh largest economy in the world with a very exciting future.

Our vision relies on contributions from dedicated teachers and leaders in vocational education and training, industry mentors, and from decision makers.

The WorldSkills global network is a hub for developing vocational education and training.

Quality training outcomes create opportunities for young people – opportunities that bring recognition and status, and ensure skills development aligns with workplace demands.

The experiences and dreams of the WorldSkills Competitors make powerful stories that inspire others to choose skills education as the foundation for a fulfilling future.

The WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 team, WorldSkills staff, and Members have collaborated closely and worked tirelessly to plan and deliver this Competition. Not only will this Competition be the biggest ever, but also we have incorporated the best ideas and experiences from previous events and added innovative new ideas to ensure this is the greatest showcase of skills excellence in the world!

Organizing an event on this scale is not easy and I wish to thank every person, company, institute, and government who has contributed. A very special thank you to SENAI and CNI in Brazil.

I am looking forward to seeing over 200,000 visitors come through the doors and experience WorldSkills Competition like never before. But just as important, people around the world will also be able to experience the Competition through virtual tours and information.

I wish you an enjoyable, exciting, stimulating, and inspiring WorldSkills experience. Let the show begin!

STEFAN PRASCHL
Chair of the Technical Committee

MICHAEL FUNG
Vice Chair of the Technical Committee

On behalf of the Technical Committee, we welcome all participants to the 43rd WorldSkills Competition. This is the first time WorldSkills has been held in Brazil, known for happy people, sun, beaches, and football. More importantly, Brazil is the seventh largest economy in the world with a huge demand for skilled workers.

For the first time, there will be more than 1,200 Competitors from more than 60 countries and regions. To organize such a huge Competition, even for Brazil, is a big challenge. However, the WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 Competition Organizer has faced this challenge and has done their utmost to setup a Competition environment of the highest industry standard and quality.

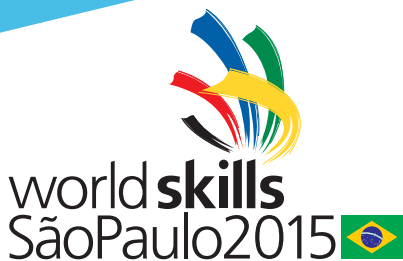

All this is done to ensure that Competitors have an equal and fair chance to showcase their excellence. Yes, it will be a Competition for medals, but it will be more than that - it will be a chance for Competitors, Experts, and all Delegates to share their experience and knowledge as well as make friends from all over the world.

Finally, we wish to thank the WorldSkills São Paulo 2015, Technical Coordination, and their outstanding team for preparing the competitions in São Paulo.

Together, let us focus all our efforts to make the 43rd WorldSkills Competition the best Competition ever, and to further raise the standard for WorldSkills Abu Dhabi 2017.

Sincere thanks on behalf of WorldSkills International to all Technical Delegates who act as Jury Presidents, and a special thanks to our colleagues acting as Jury President Team Leaders.

We are proud of our Competitors, so let's make this Competition a once-in-lifetime experience for them.

Venue: Ibirapuera Gymnasium

Time:

16:00 – Doors Open

17:00 – Competitors and Team Leaders arrive

19:00 – Ceremony begins

21:30 – Ceremony ends

Inside the Ibirapuera Gymnasium

The Gym “Geraldo José de Almeida,” known as the Ibirapuera Gymnasium, is a landmark of the city of São Paulo. This is where the largest cultural events, sports, and leisure activities of our state take place. The venue will welcome approximately 7,220 spectators for the Opening Ceremony.

About the Opening Ceremony

The Competition Organizer WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 has prepared a great show to transform the Competition Opening Ceremony into an unforgettable celebration. The show will demonstrate the influence that five continents have had upon language, arts, music, dances, cuisine, and industry in Brazil, through a performance with over 400 dancers combined with special image, sound, and light effects. We hope you enjoy the celebration which we call “The World Chose Brazil!”

As a part of the Ceremony, all of the Brazilian regions - North, Northeast, Midwest, South and Southeast - will be represented with their landscapes, abundant natural resources, and regional culture. Everyone will have the opportunity to get to know how the efforts of immigrants from around the world have contributed to Brazil’s history and future as a successful country.

The overall theme for the Competition is “Choose”. We invite you tonight, to choose to honour and respect the WorldSkills movement and skills excellence worldwide by celebrating the Competitors and all that have worked so hard to be here. They chose their skill and to go beyond, you chose to train, support, mentor, educate, and believe in them.

Let’s make this the best Competition in history!

About the Closing Ceremony

The Closing Ceremony will create an extraordinary atmosphere for the most important and memorable moment in the entire event: the medals awarded to Competitors for their effort and dedication. The celebration will be magical - filled with interactive and entertaining illusions and performances, live interviews, and lots of music.

We will enjoy the retrospective video, looking back at the entire Competition and reliving its highlights. Looking ahead, we will get to learn a bit about Abu Dhabi, host of 44th WorldSkills Competition in 2017.

The final performance also promises to involve the audience with very traditional Brazilian music. The evening will be filled with surprises, laughter, and excitement! But most importantly it is the night that we find out who are the recipients of the medals in all fifty skills.

3.9 Safety and emergency procedures

Purpose

The purpose of these procedures is to ensure, as much as possible, the safety, health, and well-being of the participants, workers, students, and visitors during WorldSkills São Paulo 2015.

In order to comply with the relevant Brazilian legislation, the WorldSkills Health, Safety, and Environmental policy and guidelines were prepared and distributed, and all of the spaces have emergency alert systems installed. An Emergency Control Team is organized and trained to help out with possible occurrences.

Emergency control team

The Emergency Control Team consists of Workshop Managers, Civil Fire Department, Emergency Brigade, Security, Security Guards Coordinator, Medical Coordinator of the Health Service, Occupational Safety Coordinator, as well as external agents, such as emergency and fire services.

The Emergency Control Team's role is to ensure the safety of all who attend WorldSkills São Paulo 2015, and quick services for any kinds of emergencies that may occur. During emergency situations, this team will provide the necessary instructions, with approval from the Health, Safety, and Environment teams.

We would like to also ask all participants to become familiar with the emergency alarms available, glass break alarms, evacuation plans, emergency exits, assembly points, as well as the Workshop Managers, Fire Department, and Emergency Brigade workers present in your area and space.

Security

Access and circulation areas in different event spaces will be monitored through internal circuit monitoring. The recorded images are confidential and will be stored for future procedures.

Medical service

In order to assist all of the WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 participants, we will have seven advanced medical assistance points in the venue, distributed in strategic positions as shown in the specific map in this handbook.

There will always be ambulances for quick assistance, with mobile intensive care units and four basic support units, during the Competition's official operating hours at the Competition venue, as well as in the hotels in which participants on packages are staying.

In addition to the ambulances, we will have a large team of civil firefighter-rescuers, trained to provide first aid and rescue services. These firefighters will be positioned in strategic locations, according to the event risk maps.

If a Competitor or Expert uses regular medication or requires regular medical supervision (e.g. self-applied injection with adrenaline, insulin, continuous use heart medication), the Chief Expert and Workshop Manager must be notified before preparation and familiarization begins.

Details about these medical conditions must be documented using the Anaphylaxis Action Plan form or Asthma Action Plan provided to the Technical Delegates. The Anaphylaxis Action Plan should be displayed on the wall of the Workshop Manager's office.

Emergency evacuation plan and escape routes

At all times during an emergency, please follow the instructions provided by the Workshop Managers.

- At any times, an evacuation order may be communicated, through an alarm or verbally, "You must evacuate immediately!";
- Whether you hear an evacuation alarm or verbal instructions from a Workshop Manager, abandon the venue through the nearest and safest escape route, which will take you to a specific assembly point. All doors must be closed - but not locked - when leaving. Once outside the building, keep streets and access free for the Fire Department and health assistance services;
- Help anyone with special needs to leave the venue, or take them to either a place that is isolated from the risk or the closest safe assembly point;
- Keep calm! Walk, do not run, and go to the nearest emergency assembly point and follow the Safety and Environment Team instructions (Fire Department and Brigade);
- Stay in groups at the assembly point until you receive instructions from a Workshop Manager or emergency service personnel indicating it is alright to return to the venue or leave the venue. Do not enter an area when the emergency alarm is ringing.

Fire and smoke

If you see or smell either fire or smoke, activate the alarm!

- 1. If it is safe to do so, ensure the immediate safety of anyone within the immediate fire area;*
- 2. Activate the fire alarm if it still hasn't been switched on by using the manual alarm activation or yell "FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!", if there isn't an alarm near;*
- 3. Evacuate the area immediately;*
- 4. Do not return to the venue before the Workshop Manager or Health, Safety and Environment team (Fire Department/Brigade and Doctor) say it is safe to do so.*

Emergency measures

The Competition Organizer guarantees that there are emergency plans and measures in place throughout the entire Competition venue. During the event, our emergency control team will take on the necessary safety precautions in the following situations:

- 1. Organize a rescue chain for cases where there are injuries or accidents;*
- 2. Chemical/spill/gas leak contamination;*
- 3. Alarm and Emergency Plan.*

Personal injury

- 1. Please contact the Workshop Manager or closest Emergency Control Team;*
- 2. Send the injured party to the Medical Centre, if necessary*
- 3. Become acquainted with the location of the first aid kit and Civil Fire Department/Brigade in your area;*
- 4. If you are robbed: notify the Workshop Manager or nearest Security Guard and provide details about the occurrence;*

Responsibilities for persons with special needs

- 1. Whether your disability is temporary or permanent, whenever possible it is important for you to know your own needs and follow the necessary instructions for emergency situations or evacuation plans.*
- 2. Please know that you can ask for help and should clearly communicate your needs.*
- 3. Become acquainted with the exit routes, and check to see if these are appropriate for your needs, even if they are not part of your circulation route;*

4. Remember, you are encouraged to specify what kind of assistance you may require from others during an emergency. Do not assume that people around you will know what to do.

Assistance for persons with physical disabilities

1. Do not provide physical guidance, hold, lift, or carry a conscious person without their permission. This includes refraining from pushing someone in a wheelchair, or “rushing” them forward without their permission.
2. Ask what kind of help the person needs. For example, see if you should clear the path ahead, or walk beside or behind them. Try to avoid providing advice or guessing what the person needs if you don’t know them.

3.10 Sustainability at WorldSkills São Paulo 2015

Our sustainability commitment with each WorldSkills Competition constantly grows. We have developed some actions for WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 that help promote an environmentally responsible, socially just, and economically feasible event.

Some of the main actions include: solid waste management, recyclable materials sent to cooperative trash collection centres and waste separated and processed on site.

We would also like to highlight the neutralization process for greenhouse gases through carbon credits or certified emission reductions, reducing the environmental impacts generated by the Competition.

The event will comply with ABNT ISO 20121 guidelines - Management Systems for Sustainable Events. Interactive educational actions were also planned, including energy generation through electrical flooring and available bicycles, recycling demonstrations and sustainable building processes, among others.

In the skill workshops, an expert will monitor and ensure proper waste disposal during the competitions and provide other sustainability guidelines. In other Anhembi Park areas, there will also be selective waste collection, with two different types of bins: recyclable (paper, plastic, tetrapak packages, among others) and non-recyclables (napkins, Styrofoam, food scraps, aluminum foil).

5. SPECIAL THANKS

5.1 To the Volunteers

Our extra special thanks go to the 800 volunteers who chose to donate their time, efforts, and talent for more than a week to ensure that all of the participants and visitors are cared for and receive the necessary support.

Saying “thank you” is not enough to express the joy and satisfaction we feel to have them helping us throughout the event. After all, it is a 212,000 m² area with approximately 200,000 visitors, and this great experience will only be possible with help from so many volunteers.

WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 volunteers chose the mission of contributing to the development of vocational education in Brazil and the world. In practical terms, this is represented through the support they provide to Competitors from all Delegations, helping with language differences in order to not hinder communication; organizing photos and videos; helping to guide the flow of people in the restaurants; and helping to conduct public visits and support activities in the skill Competitions.

Hand in Hand...

... the future begins with ideas. And ideas begin at Festo. World-class solutions in Automation and Didactic worldwide:

The goal is to have a volunteer available whenever someone needs help. All volunteers are aware that volunteering is the best way both to help others and to help themselves. Volunteering is a great learning experience, a fulfilling way to spend time, and a clear example of social responsibility.

We are sure that the participation certificates delivered to our volunteers will be more than celebrated, because besides being an integral part of the event, volunteers know that they perform an amazing and valuable job!

5.2 To Partners

WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 is pleased to collaborate with major partners for the 43rd WorldSkills Competition, the greatest vocational education and skills excellence Competition in the world, held in Latin America for the first time. The Competition was made possible by a strong partnership between the National Service for Industrial Training (SENAI) and WorldSkills International, and both entities sincerely thank all of you for your attention and support as co-organizers, partners, and sponsors.

We would like to begin by thanking our co-organizer partner from the Industry System, SESI (Industrial Social Service), for collaborating in organizing the Competition, not only financially but also by providing expertise and sharing skilled labour with SENAI.

Other essential partners helping to build the select team of Competition Organizer employees were the 27 regional SENAI divisions, which provided the Workshop Managers and Workshop Sector Managers for all of the skills, and supported us with employees for the technical and service departments.

We would also like to thank our government and institutional partners. Our partnership with all three-government levels and especially with the Ministry of Education, the Chief of Staff Office (Casa Civil), and the International and Federative Affairs Department in São Paulo was essential to connect with strategic stakeholders and make this Competition feasible. Conselho do SESI, Sebrae (Brazilian Micro and Small Business Support Service), and SENAC (National Service for Industrial Training) are institutional partners that work together to coordinate actions that promote Brazilian Vocational education.

Special thanks to our national and international sponsors. Support from these companies made the Competition and side events possible and added expertise, perspective, and innovation to all we experienced.

Thanks to all of these well-orchestrated commitments. We are proud to launch WorldSkills São Paulo 2015, believing in the success of this week dedicated to promoting Vocational Skills Education!

5.3 To WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 Sponsors and Global Partners

WorldSkills International and WorldSkills São Paulo 2015 are honoured to receive support from the WorldSkills Global Partners.

We thank Samsung (the Overall Event Presenter), Stanley Black & Decker, 3M, AWS (American Welding Society), Autodesk, Cisco, Festo, Fluke, Lincoln Electric, Saint-Gobain, and Siemens.

As Global Partners, these renowned companies are already individually involved in education and training initiatives in various markets around the world.

Associating these organizations with the WorldSkills mission is gratifying, and it is certainly very important in making the WorldSkills Competition possible. Surely, this contribution adds value to all stakeholders involved, as it provides an opportunity for entities to talk directly to each other, adopt best practices to promote education, encourage vocational skills education globally, and increase skilled labour in industry.

At the same time, the Competition gives these partners the opportunity to develop avenues of collaboration that sustain the success of the Competition and ensure we realize our vision.

Besides Global Partners, it is also very important to highlight the presence and interest of participating Brazilian and international companies.

The support and contribution that these organizations and institutions provide will significantly affect the skill competitions, the tools used by Competitors, and the specific services available to make the Competition possible.

These partnerships encourage our collective success.
